BioScience Today

Bioscience Today is the only UK magazine working towards the government agenda medical technology and biopharmaceutical sectors.

Bioscience Today (previously Bioscience Journal) is a contemporary publication written to assist the drive towards the government agenda and vision of making the Life Sciences sector of the UK a test bed for clinical research and medical innovation.

Aimed towards decision makers within the Bioscience, Medical, Pharmaceutical and Healthcare markets, and global in appeal, its content is independent and politically unbiased and driven by investigative journalism and expert analysis by industry leaders. Covering key aspects within its chosen industries, Bioscience Today sheds light on industry impacting stories that shape its future and reveals the major players behind the growth of the UK's most exciting industry sector.

Bioscience Today reaches worldwide boardroom executives and senior government decision makers UK wide. The bioscience journal gets your message directly the medical, pharmaceuticals, and healthcare markets that employ 233,000 people in the UK and generate £63 billion in revenues across over 5,000 companies.
